Vision

"Go therefore, and teach all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father and the Son, and the Holy Spirit..." Matthew 28:19

Last week Todd, Craig and I meet for lunch twice at two different malls. We engaged in a number of excellent conversations with people. We were privileged to hear four people in less than a week accept Christ as we talked with them. WOW! That is awesome to know that four more names are written in the book of life. I share this not to boast in any way. We would go to the malls and witness regardless of whether we hear anyone accept Christ. But when we do hear them accept Christ it encourages us all the more. And we hope it will encourage you too!

I report in this newsletter a lot about witnessing events and going to the mall. I wanted to take this opportunity to share with you that there is more to Bezeugen than going to the mall or a football game to hand out tracts. The vision is much bigger. It is two-fold: equipping believers to share the Gospel and helping seekers plug into the fellowship of the local church. Please let me share the vision with you.

I read recently that a recent survey revealed that less than two percent of professing Christians share their faith. That statistic amazes me. When Christ went up to heaven he commanded believers to "Go" and teach all nations. Since it was the last thing he told his followers to do it seems like it must be important. As I have talked to people, I believe a big reason why people do not share their faith is out of fear. To combat this we have developed an Evangelism Training Seminar. The seminar covers handing out Gospel tracts and then progresses to how to verbally witness to someone. We then go out on the streets for some real life practice. I have the opportunity to present this material in Austin, TX this weekend. We will then hold a seminar in Carrollton on February 2nd to gather feedback. It is our prayer that these seminars will equip believers to share the Gospel. This is a key part of the vision of Bezeugen Ministries. The vision starts with training believers to share their faith. Then through one on one evangelism the trained believers will share the Gospel. Later this year we will develop a discipleship class where a seeker can come and learn more about the Gospel without having to step foot in a church. Once the seeker understands the Gospel we will hand them off to a partner church where they can worship, fellowship and grow into a fully devoted follower of Jesus!
