Confused?!?!

"Go therefore, and teach all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father and the Son, and the Holy Spirit..." Matthew 28:19

This afternoon Mande and I attended the funeral of a man who has provided counsel to me since 2004 and to both Mande and I together. Mark is a strong Christian believer who pointed others to Christ through his life and ministry as a counselor. He provided us with wise counsel that helped me recover from my divorce and guide Mande and I in our marriage. There must have been at least 1000 people at the service. Together we worshiped God, remembered Mark's life, heard amazing testimonies about a man of faith and shed tears together. I think I speak for everyone that was there when I say, we were all a bit confused. Confused? Yes! You see, Mark committed suicide last Friday. Some of his friends that spoke would ask, "Why didn't Mark call me?" others said, "Why would he kill himself?" It is impossible for any of us to know why this man of God choose to walk away from a loving family and so many dear friends and take his own life. John 8:44 tells us that the devil is the father of all lies. I believe he lied to Mark to tell him that the easiest and best thing to do is take his own life. I guess Mark bought into this lie and took his life. The truth is that the devil has been lying to mankind ever since he lied to Eve in the garden. This puts us all in a situation where we need Jesus to save us! Mark is in heaven now because he believed in Jesus. There are many of us that will miss him. We'll see him soon!

Witnessing Encounters

This evening I had a long conversation with a young man at Willowbend Mall. He said he was raised in the Mormon church but his family had left there because the church is filled with hypocrites and judgmental people. He said he was seeking the truth in religion. We spoke about the Bible and how we can know it is true because of the 20,000 original manuscripts that agree with each other, the fulfilled prophecy, the eye witness accounts about Jesus life, death and resurrection. It was obvious he was open to continue discussions and seeking the truth. So I let him know about a new portion of the ministry that we are developing. This is a mentorship/ discipleship program for seekers and new believers. Steve Dossin has taken on the curriculum development for this aspect of the ministry. He is currently reviewing a number of books and other materials to select the material that we will use. Your prayers are appreciated as we seek direction for this part of the ministry. We hope someday soon to be able to mentor a person like I met at the mall with ongoing discussions so that they can come to know the truth of God's Word and salvation through Jesus Christ. They can know the truth that will save them when they die, just like Mark did!
