24 (or so) hours

"Go therefore, and teach all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father and the Son, and the Holy Spirit..." Matthew 28:19

I thought I would me fun to track my tract distribution for roughly 24 hours.

Thursday 6:45 PM pacific: I was in pasadena to meet a friend for dinner. Waiting outside the restaurant were three people smoking cigarettes. So I went up to them and handed them each a "ticket to heaven" tract while saying "hi, my name is carl. I am with the department of eternal affairs and am ticketing you for smoking on this sidewalk.". So I asked them what they thought happened when they die. One said nothing. One said reincarnation. The other said heaven by religious good works. So we talked about how there is none good and thy without repentance and briefing in Jesus eternity would be hell!

Friday 4:45 AM pacific: I awoke and got ready to go to the airport. Checked out from the best western and offered danielle a million dollar bill tract to cover my bill. She asked what it is so I told her it is a gospel tract. I asked her what she though happens when a person dies. She said she was not sure but had thought some about it since I had to get to the airport I quickly explained the gospel and handed

Witnessing Tip

In this Bezeugen Blast I have shared a say in my life of witnessing. This was just an ordinary day without any specific trips out to "witness". My hope and prayer is that you will find this useful and see how easy it is to incorporate witnessing into your daily life. Why not order some tracts and make a habit of handing them out throughout the day. Some suggested sources for tracts are:

her a "Why Christianity?" tract. She said she would read it.

5:50 am pacific: I arrived at the hertz rental car return. Angela checked my car in and gave me a receipt. So I offered her a gospel of john.

6:10 am pacific: Checked in at American airlines. Another million dollar tract!

6:20 am pacific: Airport restaurant employee gets another million dollar bill when I buy breakfast.

7:00 am pacific to noon central
Siting on the flight to Dallas next to Elizabeth. She is mid- twenties and had just gotten a divorce. So I asked her if she had seen any movies lately - trying to lead the discussion to the movie fireproof. Turns out that is the one movie she had seen recently. We talked about the movie quiet a bit. So I asked her what she liked best and she said she liked the whole thing. I told her my favorite part was where the wife came I him and asked " what changed in you? I want that too!". I then took her back to the place where the change happened and explained the gospel. I asked her if she would take the love dare and consider reconciling with her ex. She said no. So I asked her what she was going to do on the ride in the uhaul back to California. She said she had a book to read but that she would finish it. So I asked her if she would read a book and consider our discussion about eternity. She said yes. So I gave her a copy of Mark Cahill's One Heartbeat Away. She said she would read it! Please pray for her salvation. (continued on page 2)

24 (or so) hours ... continued

12:15 pm central: Handed out several tracts while waiting for my baggage to be delivered.

12:30 pm central: Arrived at the check out at Park & Fly. I handed the cashier a million dollar bill tract and asked if she could make change. She said yes! I guess she did not look to see what I had given her. Eventually she returned and I paid with my credit card. I told her there was a million dollar question on the back and she agreed to read it after work.

1:30 pm central: At lunch the cashier at Chik-fil-A gets a "Mind Game" tract.

2:00 pm central: After lunch, I am walking by the Vonage kiosk at the Stonebriar mall. The guy working there hands me a flyer. Since we are pressed for time, I tell him I will read it later. Then I hand him a "Mind Game" tract and ask him to take a look at it.

6:00 central: Wow! Gas is down to $2.99 a gallon. So I put "can you name ten beers" tracts in several slots at the gas pumps.

11:44 pm central: Ok. So the diary is past 24 hours. We end up at sonic after the Hebron high football game. The car hop receives a million dollar bill tract. I explain that there is a million dollar question on the back and he says he will check it out!

I hope this diary of witnessing will encourage you to share your faith on a daily basis. As you can see sharing Gospel tracts and witnessing can simply be a part of your day to day life! Please email me this week with a way that you have shared the Gospel or handed out a tract this week!
