"Go therefore, and teach all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father and the Son, and the Holy Spirit..." Matthew 28:19

Six months ago the price of a gallon of gas was up to $4.00. I've noticed something interesting as the price has been coming down. Each time it would adjust down, I wanted to fill up as to make sure I got the lowest price. I filled up at $2.39 a few weeks ago, only to find that the same gas station had gas for $2.34 the next day! Last weekend as we drove to San Antonio, I noticed the prices were getting lower as we drove southbound on I-35. At one point we stopped at a store to pick something up. I realized we did not have enough gas to make it all the way to San Antonio and contemplated finding a gas station. But, deep down, I knew I wanted to get the best deal. I thought to myself, if I could find it for $1.99, then I should fill up. I found the onramp to the interstate before I found a gas station. Then as I was accelerating, I looked to my right and saw a Valero station. Gas was $1.97! Yikes! I had missed the best deal. Not wanting to back track, I figured, I'd see another place with the same or lower price. So I pressed on. But as we got to Austin the prices were back to $2.19 and up. Finally, we were getting really low on gas as we approached San Antonio. I was going to have to settle for what I knew was not

Witnessing Tip

When you join the Bezeugen Tract Club, you will receive some "Naughty or Nice" business card sized Gospel tracts. These have a fun tie to Christmas, share the Gospel and then lead people to the new After Life Catalog web site. Carry these in your wallet and give them to people you meet.

the best price. I exited the highway. Shell was $2.05. A Valero was on the other-side of the highway. Alas, it was $2.02! I pretty good buy.

So what is the point of all this talk about the gas prices? Well, often when I am out talking to people, I get the feeling they are looking for the best deal when it comes to eternity. They are shopping around figuring they have plenty of time to make a decision. Some people will actually say to us that they will consider it later in life. Well, what if there is no later in life. What if that $1.99 gas station was the last one and if I did not fill up there we would have eventually run out of gas before reaching San Antonio. 150,000 people die each day. That is about 1 person every 2 seconds. These people do not have until tomorrow, next week, next month, next year or many years to think about and make a decision. Paul tells us in 2 Corinthians 6:2 that "now is the day of salvation". It is important for people to settle where they will spend eternity. Tomorrow may be too late! In order to make sharing the Gospel fun and easy, we have put together the www.AfterLifeCatalog.com web site. Why not point someone you know that needs to hear the Gospel to that site today!

 For the record, we did get gas for $1.99 on the way home from San Antonio. Now I can get that price all around town at home!

A tattoo on your arm will not save you!

Todd and I had the pleasure of speaking with Matthew and Morgan last week at the Willowbend Mall. Neither one of them were able to tell us how to get to heaven. Matthew talked a lot about good works that he does. He hinted that these good works would earn him some favor with God. We talked to him about the Ten Commandments and what God considers to be good, When we explained that because of breaking the ten commandments, they would be guilty before God and be condemned to hell. They both looked very sober when they realized this. We then shared the Gospel with them.

They were grateful. Said they were not ready to accept it yet, but that they would consider it. Now here is something ironic. As we talked with Matthew, we realized he had tattoo's on both arms. These tattoo's were about seven lines of words in script. When we asked him about the tattoo's he told us that it was about forgiveness and repentance. We were shocked. Here is a guy who basically has the Gospel message written on both arms. Yet, he did not know how to be saved himself. Going to church won't save you. Good works won't save you. Having the Gospel tattooed on your arms won't save you. Only repenting of sin and putting your trust in Jesus will save you! Please pray that he is able to accept the Gospel.

Dallas Christmas Parade

On December 6 there is a Christmas Parade in Dallas. According to an Internet site, this parade often draws over 350,000 people! What a great opportunity to hand out Gospel tracts and talk to people about the true meaning of Christmas. Last year we handed out Christmas Quizes. This year we will be handing out "Naught or Nice" Gospel tracts. We have ordered 5,000 of these tracts customized with our www.AfterLifeCatalog.com web site on the back. The tracts have a picture of Santa on the front looking at two lists (naught and nice) with the question "which list are you on"? The instruction says to place your thumb on the red "bulb" for five seconds. If you've been good the red will fade. The back has the Gospel message. This should be a lot of fun to hand out before and after the parade. With 5,000 tracts and hundreds of thousands of people, we are obviously going to need help handing these out. I have a copy of "The Divine Butler" on DVD from the Way of the Master Season 3 for the first person to agree to come with us!
